Question 2. The APN working at the clinic would be reluctant to give which patient a tuberculin purified protein derivative (PPD) skin test? 0

1. A pregnant woman

2. An infant

3. An adult who has previously received the bacillus Calmette–Guérin (BCG) vaccine

4. An incarcerated adult

Rationales

Option 1: PPD testing is safe in pregnancy and during lactation.

Option 2: PPD testing is safe in children of all ages including infants.

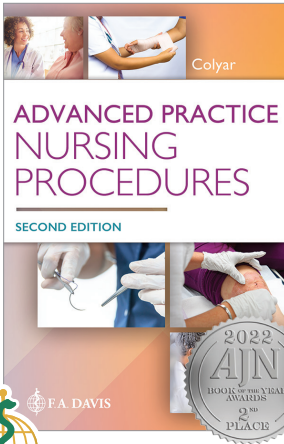

Option 3: It is not recommended that a patient who has received the BCG vaccine receive a tuberculosis (TB) skin test to test for TB infection, because a false positive result is likely. TB blood testing is the preferred method of TB testing for people who have received the BCG vaccine.

Option 4: PPD testing is recommended for high-risk groups, which include residents of crowded facilities.

Advanced Assessment Interpreting Findings and Formulating Differential Diagnoses, 5th Edition

Mary Jo Goolsby, EdD, MSN, NP-C, FAANP, FAAN | Laurie Grubbs, PhD, ARNP-C

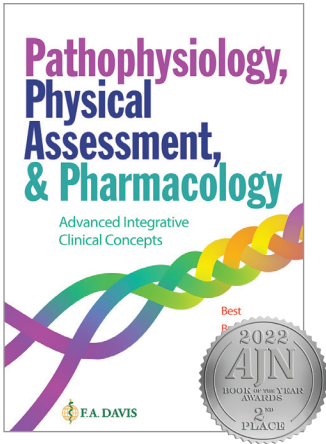

An essential guide in the assessment and diagnostic process.

Step by step, students will hone their ability to perform effective health assessments, obtain valid data, interpret the findings, and recognize the range of conditions that can be indicated by specific findings to reach an accurate differential diagnosis.

Over 170 conditions and symptoms across the lifespan.

- NEW CHAPTER! Differential Studies
- NEW & EXPANDED! History-taking techniques and skills for special populations
- EXPANDED! Lab diagnostic information, discussions of health disparities, cultural humility and competency, and genetic testing for pharmacologic prescriptions for psychiatric mental health conditions
- NEW! Diagnosis algorithm decision trees designed to help nurses assess and diagnose conditions such as chronic sore throat, chronic insomnia, and more
- Step-by-step how-tos for taking a focused history, performing a physical based on presenting complaints/problems, and interpreting the findings
- Guidance on selecting diagnostic tests and interpreting those studies to help narrow down the diagnoses

COMBINING THE "3Ps"

Pathophysiology, Physical Assessment, and Pharmacology

Advanced Integrative Clinical Concepts

Janie T. Best, DNP, RN, CNL
Grace Buttriss, DNP, RN, FNP-BC, CNL
Annette Hines, RN, PhD, CNE

Integrate the 3Ps for a real-world, holistic approach to nursing care.

This first-of-its-kind text combines the "3Ps"—pathophysiology, pharmacology, and physical assessment—into an integrative whole that reflects the real-world of how students learn and nurses practice. This groundbreaking approach promotes a deeper understanding of these three essential and often challenging content areas.

Its lifespan approach features six major population-based sections that cover the key conditions and disorders that nurses are likely to encounter in practice, reviewing the important pathophysiology, pharmacology, and physical exam and assessment information relative to each disorder.

- Content aligns with AACN guidelines, with an emphasis on the applicable clinical content across the lifespan for diverse care settings.
- A lifespan approach divides the text into six major sections by population (Adult, Maternity, Newborn, Pediatric, Geriatrics, and Mental Health Disorders Across the Lifespan).
- "Learning Objectives" at the beginning of each chapter outline the knowledge to be mastered.
- "Clinical Pearls" and "Assessment Pearls" highlight information important to care.
- "Red Flag" warnings alert students to potentially life-threatening situations.
- "High-Yield Facts for Testing" call out information that commonly appears on exams.
- "Key Points" summarize the major concepts in every chapter.
- "Review Questions" at the end of every chapter assess mastery of the content.
- A "Case Study" with "Review Questions" at the end of every section focuses on a new, commonly encountered disorder to demonstrate how to apply knowledge in real-world settings.

AGACNP Exam Review

Anthony M. Angelow, PhD, APRN, ACNPC, ACNP-BC, AGACNP-BC, CEN, FAEN, FAANP

Equip students with content review and practice questions to successfully prepare for certification.

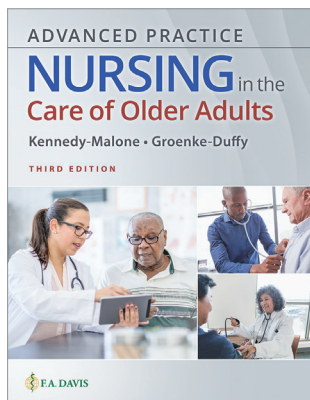

Assure that your students have the in-depth understanding of advanced pathophysiology, advanced pharmacology, advanced health assessment, diagnostic reasoning, clinical decision-making, and the interplay between these concepts that are required for exam success.

In addition to an in-depth review of core content, they'll also have access to Davis Edge, the online Q&A platform that creates quizzes based on their personal strengths and weaknesses and tracks their progress every step of the way. 1,000 board-style questions, with comprehensive rationales for both correct and incorrect responses, provide the additional practice students need for exam success.

A Comprehensive Exam Builder within Davis Edge lets students select a 75- or 150-question practice test that simulates the board exam experience, helping students prepare for certification.

- A review of core content prepares students for exam success.
- The approximately 240 questions reflect the domains and content areas of the American Nurses Credentialing Center and the American Association of Critical Care exams.
- The first chapter, Successful Test-Taking Strategies, explains the types of questions on the exam, the question formats, and how to analyze the questions to understand how they are developed and what they are asking, and offers study tips.
- Higher-level assessment, analysis, and knowledge-based questions mirror the various types of questions on the examinations.
- “Evidence-Based Knowledge Builders” are detailed rationales for both correct and incorrect responses that offer succinct reviews of content.
- “Quick Hints” offer brief, high-yield clinical pearls or test tips near the related question or area of content review.

Health Promotion Translating Evidence to Practice

Marilyn Frenn, PhD, RN, CNE, ANEF, FTOS, NAAF

Diane K. Whitehead, EdD, DNP, RN, ANEF

An evidence-based approach to health promotion across the lifespan

Ensure your students are able to proficiently read, evaluate, and apply the best evidence to develop health promotion plans that help individuals and their families prevent or manage chronic and acute diseases and disorders.

Step-by-step, a who's who of educators, researchers, and advanced practitioners explore the models and skills your students need to care for their patients, including those with multiple co-morbidities, while evaluating medical evidence that changes rapidly, or may be unclear.

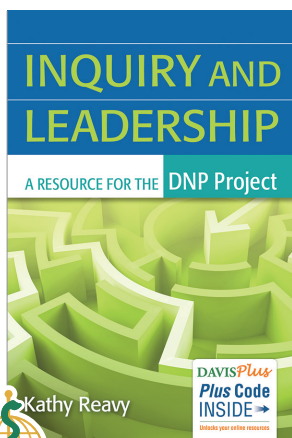

- Prepares students for health promotion questions on certification exams.
- Offers chapters uniquely focused on special populations, including the homeless, people with disabilities, and LGBTQ clients, as well as end-of-life care and substance abuse.
- Uses unfolding case studies that represent the real-world clinical challenges of individuals, families, aggregate groups, and population-based clients.
- Provides a wealth of learning tools and resources to build understanding and develop skills.
